Paul specializes in searches for executives for companies in a wide range of industries. With a diverse professional background and a deep involvement in the community, he offers clients a wealth of business experience and access to his extensive network of contacts. He establishes long-lasting relationships with both clients and candidates and often serves as a trusted business advisor.

Responsible for marketing and business development for The McCormick Group, Paul also manages the government contracting and emergency management group, which places executives with government contractors. He is active in conducting search assignments in a variety of practice areas, including legal, sales and marketing, information technology, government and professional services, finance and operations, real estate and construction, and not-for-profits and associations. In addition, he has consulted on the mergers of numerous professional service companies. Consistently a top performer, Paul continually earns multiple top producer honors in the company and has been named National Account Executive of the Year and Arlington Account Executive of the Year.

Paul joined The McCormick Group in 1994 after a career as an executive in the communications, banking, and real estate industries. Throughout his professional life, he has been deeply involved in the community. His many activities include: Chairman of Columbia Lighthouse for the Blind; First Vice President of the Rosslyn Renaissance Board of Directors and Co-Chair of their Urban Design Committee; Co-Chairman of "TechMatch," a national workforce recruitment and marketing campaign for the Greater Washington region; Chairman, Goodwill of Greater Washington; Vice Chairman, United Negro College Fund; and member of the Board of Directors for: Greater Washington Board of Trade, Leadership Washington, Fairfax Chamber of Commerce, D.C. Chamber of Commerce, and Big Brothers of Washington.

Originally from Detroit, MI, Paul received a Bachelor of Arts degree from Michigan State University and attended Detroit College of Law.
